TILTON-BEECHER

The Bill of Particulars in the Court of Appeals.

Decision of the Courts Below Reviewed-The Case Remitted to the Discretion of the City Court

THE PROCTOR-MOULTON LIBEL.

The probabilities are in favor of the soundness of the impression that the famous suit of Theodore Tilton vs. Henry Ward Beecher, which is on the calendar of the Brooklyn City Court for trial to-day, will not proceed. This opinion is fortified by the decision in the Court of Appeals given below. PROCTOR VS. MOULTON.

Ex-Judge Fullerton and associate counsel appeared in the United States Circuit Court, before Judge Woodruff, yesterday, to argue the order of the Court as to the amendment of the complaint in the case of Edna Dean Proctor vs. Francis D. Moulton, by substituting the word "citizen" for "resident." General Tracy appeared for the plaintiff. General Prior moved to have the order amended that the defence shall not be required to have their answer to the complaint ready for Wednesday next, that being the day set down for the trial of the case. The order required them either to admit or deny the allegation of citizenship and did not give them an opportunity

General Tracy said to grant the motion made by the other side was to put off the trial of the action, and he did not want any postponement.

Ex-Judge Fullecton was of the opinion that they were entitled to all the advantages the law gave them, and they were not responsible for any errors that had occurred in the complaint. As a matter of law the defendant should have twenty days in which to answer. The truth was, he had been advised that the plaintiff was not a citizen of Massachusetts, but had been a citizen of New Hampsnire for the last twenty years. General Tracy said that they averred she was a "resident" and not a "citizen," and the original averthat effect was amended to read "citizen." instead of resident. As for the twenty days asked for, the order granted equired that the answer should be made on the day of trial. Ex-Judge Pullerton said they proposed in good faith to dispute the question of plaintiffs residence, and he expected to be able show that she was a resident of New Hampshire. They would not be ready for trial on Wednesday, and he asked for leave to demur to the complaint or else have twenty days in which to answer. The Judge said he would order the correction in the beginning of the complaint to strike out the word "trial" and substitute the word "action" therefor. He could not enter tain the other points raised by the counsel at that time.

THE COURT OF APPEALS DECISION.

Judge Rapallo yesterday delivered the opinion of the Court of Appeals, sitting in Albany, on a motion made before it that the order of the General Term and the Special Term of the City Court of Brooklyn, delivered by Judge Neilson, denying the application of Mr. Beecher's counsel that the decision in the suit of Theodore Tilton vs. Henry Ward Beecher be reversed and that a bill of particulars be turnished to defendant's counsel. The opinion takes the ground that the courts below had a right to order a bill of particulars. The Appellate Court orders the cause to be remitted to the Court below, that its discretion upon the merits may be expressed, without costs to either party as against the other. The opinion delivered by Judge Rapalio is concurred in by Chief Justice Church and Judges Polger and Andrews. Judge Allen gives a dissentient opinion, which is also given below. Judge Grover brieny expresses a the appeal as claimed by Judge Allen, but nevertheless concurs in the dissentient opinion.

THE OPINIONS.

Theodore Tilton, respondent, w. Henry Ward Beecher, appellant. William M. Evarts for appellant: Roger A. Pryor for respondent. Rapailo, J.—The only question arising upon the present appeal which is reviewable in this Court is whether or not the Court below had power to grant the application of the defendant. If the possessed that power and, under the mistaken impression that the power did not exist, denied the application of that ground, we have jurisdiction, and it is our duty to correct that error of law and remit the case to the Court below, with a direction that the motion be heard at Special Central Religion (Copper Central Religion Copper Central Religion Central contend, that the present application was founded upon legal right or that it did not rest in the discretion of the Gourt; not that the order appealed from was the result of rair exercise of that discretion we should be adding to whom the application was originally made at Special Form decided that he had no power to grant the relief sought; that he erroneously held that such relief could have oeen applied for under section 150 of the proceeding; and that the defendant is entitled to shave this reproveding; and that the defendant is entitled to have this reproveding; and that the defendant is entitled to have this reproved that is application of the considered, without being embarrassed by the legal difficulties supposed to stand in the way. THE 'LONGSHOREMEN.

The Strike Not a Success. There is but little that is new regarding the longshoremen's strike. With the exception of one or two minor lines, the steamship companies the wages of these laborers have had their work so well, so promptly and so cheerfully per-formed by the new hands and by those not belonging to the union that their sanguine anticipations have been more than met, and for ten days they have been able to secure all the labor they want at the reduced terms. But the 'longshoremen still present a bold front, and take evident pleasure in refrainis employing non-society men, and under no circumstance will they ever again work for the stevenores Waish Brothers, who have rendered themselves so obnoxious to their organiretrace—the raising of the "general strike," as there were found, after one week's trial on that basis, some of their members, husbands and fathers, who were painfully conscious that there was something wrong in the management which kept them idle and endangered the subsistence of their families, and so they spoke out against the despotism which put them in that position. The Governing Council saw their miswork at the old rates, thus doing one sensible thing, for which credit should be extended them. The fight is being prolonged, however, by the union, and the leaders will not see that it must prove disastrous. They hope in time to make such steamship lines as the Cunard, National, Inman. White Star, Anchor, Williams & Guion, Pacific Mail, South American, Mailory's, Alexandre's, Murray, Ferris & Co.'s and others come to their terms, little thinking that by the unnecessary defiance they are displaying these firms and corporations will in the future work for the destruction of their union and discriminate against all its members.

The Anchor line feels satisfied with their bands and consider they are now equal in efficiency to the society laborers. Last Saturday Messrs, lienderson Brothers, the agents, despatched four steamers and two sailing vessels, the cargoes which they took out amounting to over 11,000 tons, an extraordinary week's business even in the most prosperous times. This week the company will load and send to their respective ports two steamers and two sailing vessels, all loaded by non-union men. thing, for which credit should be extended two steamers and two sailing vessels, all loaded by non-union men.

The White Star line sent their regular steamer away on time on Saturday last, the whole of their cargo being stowed more than three hours selore the announced hour of departure. Yesterday the Oceanic arrived, was docked at noon, and shortly after the work of discharging was commenced by a body of very superior men, under the superintendence of Mr. John Waish. The agent of the line will not again employ union men under any circumstances.

ine will not again employ union men under any circumstances.

The City of Antwerp, of the Inman line, will sail to-day at two elock. The delay in her departure is not due to the new longshoremen, so say the officers, but to her long passage and the peculiarity of her cargo.

The England, of the National line, also a delayed steamer, will be loaded to-day and sail at once.

layed steamer, will be loaded to-day and sail at once.

Messrs. Murray, Ferris & Co., of the Savannah line, are still working non-society men and express themselves satisfied with their labor.

The union men obtained another temporary victory yeaterday in the State line employing them at the old wages, and several of the agents of the sailing vessels are also doing the same thing. It is the opinion of the owners of many of the latter, however, that the current wages will not be paid after the vessels now leading have sailed.

MAYOR VANCE AND THE DEPARTMENTS. Those Vacancies-The Charges Against

tive necessitated the admission of numerous callers, but the vacancy of the places of Commisstoner of Charities and Correction Laimbeer and Dock Commissioner Gardiner brought an influx of gentlemen interested in particular favorites for these two offices.

Mayor Vance was called upon in the afternoon by a HERALD representative and questioned as to his probable appointees. He remarked that he had under advisement the appointment of Mr.

had under advisement the appointment of Mr.

William Albertson for the position of Dock Commissioner. He did not say specifically that he would select this gentleman. It is generally understood, however, that he will be the successful competitor, as Mr. Albertson is a strict republican and periectly in political accord with the Mayor on this head. As to Mr. Laimbeer's successor, the Mayor said he had not yet accepted that gentleman's resignation, and until such course had been adopted there would be necessarily no appointment made.

The communication received in answer to alloged charges as to lavoritism extended to Tweed will not be given to the press before to-day. Mayor Vance says he is engaged in investigating those charges. This investigation, it is said, does not consist in the examination of witnesses, but simply in general inquiry. Corporation Counsel Smith was closeted with the Mayor on this point for a brief time during the day.

As to the nature of the answer of the Commissioners of Charittes and Correction to those allegations it is surmised that they base any leniency to Tweed on the ground of his state of health, as cerufied to by the Blackwell's Island physician.

EXCISE AFFAIRS.

Charity Above All-One Hundred and Seventy-One Licenses Applied for

The Commissioners forming the Board of Eveles had their regular weekly meeting vesterday in the rooms at the corner of Mulberry and Houston streets. The most important topic discussed was how to preserve for the benefit of the poor the money received for licenses between now and the 1st of January. The reason for the discussion is that there is now a doubt that the money received or paid to the Chamberlain after that date can be given to the Chamberlain after that date can be given to the Chamberlain after that date can be given to the Chamberlain after that date she law approved last June will then have lost its the Excise Commissioners are required to pay over to the Chamberlain the money they receive for license fees at least once a month; but they have been in the babit of making payments more irequently. As a result of the discussion spoken of before the Commissioner Marshall, the Treasurer of the Board, to make deposits with the Chamberlain as often as he thought proper, daily if necessary. By this means the Commissioners hope to secure to the charitable funds of the city much money which, if kept by them for a month, as the law permits them so hold it, would perhaps go into the city's sinking fund.

The business of the Excise Department was greater yesterday than ever before. The rooms of the department were thronged all day, and at one time it was necessary to close the doors. About 171 persons applied for licenses and paid over to the department about $12,000. The conviction of Schwai has caused a feeling among the majority of liquor seilers which the efforts of the few members of the Liquor Deglers' Association cannot overcome. Since that conviction the Commissioners have issued in the neighborhood of 650 licenses, Some of these were given to keepers of reputable places who were indicted for refusing to anyly for time before, as soon as these men had paid for heceases the Commissioners requested the bistrict Attorney to have the indictments against them quashed. The Excise Board is an wining to pursue a policy of oppression to ward the liquor dealers was repent of their opposition to it, but is determined to enforce the law. that there is now a doubt that the money received or paid to the Chamberlain after that date

ACCIDENT OR MURDER?

Mysterious Death of George Hunteringular Details of a Sudden End-Diversity of Evidence and Opinion. A somewhat mysterious case of suspected foul day morning. Mr. George Bunter, bookkeeper in the employ of the Scotsman, a weekly periodical, is the victim, and the circumstances of his death usually searching inquiry. Mr. Hunter boarded at the Anthony House in Broadway, near Thirteenth street, and was last seen at the hotel on Saturday morning about eleven o'clock. He then had $88 in his possession, with which he went down town to his office. There he is supposed to have remained but a short time, as he was seen at a quarter-past one o'clock on the corner of Broadway and Twelfth street. having at that time some $80 in his possession. From there it would appear that he went to a liquor saloon on Fourth avenue and bought a cigar. very much under the influence of liquor at the appear, went to the Mouse No. 100 East Thirteenth street, and saked for a Mme. Pulton, who had sold out the place some few days before, and who had a very bad reputation with the police. He was so informed by a Mrs. Small, who had succeeded Mme. Fulton, but despite this Hunter remained in the house. After some ten or fitteen minutes he was seen to be carried out of the place, apparently insensible, by a man and a boy and deposited on the side-walk, where he was left. An officer of the Seventeenth precinct came up in the meantime and thinking the man drunk he went for a cart to take him to the station house. When the policeman returned he found the supposed drunken man in the hands of Mr. James W. Collier, John Garvey and another, who said they were his iriends and would be responsible for him. The policemen then let them take charge of Hunter, who was taken to the engine house near by, where attempts were made to revive mm. It was only then holiced that blood trickled out of his right ear, but this was not considered serious and more efforts were made to bring him to. Hours passed in this manner until, at seven o'clock in the evening, Mr. Collier grew alarmed and went to inform Mr. Merritt, of the Anthony House, of the accident, it is necessary to state kere, however, that shortly after the unfortunate man had been conveyed to the engine house his pockets were searched and only $16 and some cents found upon his person. A silver waten, which he wore in the morning when he left the hotel, was also wanting, and these facts, besides the state the man was in, pointed to the commission of a crime. When Hunter was conveyed to the hotel he was still insensible. A doctor was then sent for, who pronounced his skull fractured beneath the right ear. The most stringent means were employed to bring him to a state of even semi-consciousness, but to no purpose; and though he remained in fact alive, to all intents and purposes he was dead. He lingered until yesterday morning at seven o'clock, when he breatned his last.

There was a sufficiency of mystery in this case poses he was dead. He lingered until yesterday morning at seven o'clock, when he breathed his last.

There was a sufficiency of mystery in this case to make an investigation needful. Coroner Kessier held an inquest vesterday, but as no post-mortem examination was held to develop whether the man had received a blow with an instrument or had been wounded accidentally, the inquest was practically useless. The autopsy will probably be held to-day. A Herald reporter called upon Mrs. Small, in whose house either a tragedy or an accident took place. This person said that Hunter came to herdoor on Saturday, about two o'clock, and asked for Madame Fulton, who had kept the house before her. She answered from the first landing that Madame Fulton had left the house, but Hunter ascended the stairs slowly and, as sne ludged, was very much intoxicated. When he reached the top he faliered and, etting go the banisters, fell his full length backward and rolled down to the bottom of the steps, and there remained motionless. Mrs. Small grew alarmed and called a plumber, who was working up stairs, and a boy and had the man carried out and placed upon the sidewalk. This was all. The man did not even reach the top of the stairs and made no exhibition of any money or jeweiry of any description. If he lost this money it was somewhere else, Patrick Lynch, the plumber, who carried the body out says that he was going up stairs to his work when he heard a heavy step coming up the lower stairs from the sidewalk. He looked down and saw a man ascending, whom he judged to be drunk. A moment after he heard a heavy fail, and looking down again saw the same man at the bottom of the stairs. There was no scuffe or blow struck.

Captain Slebert states that he has made some of the sailing vessels are also doing the same thing. It is the opinion of the owners of many of the latter, however, that the current wages will not be paid after the vessels now loading have sailed.

MAYOR VANCE AND THE DEPARTMENTS.

Those Vacancies—The Charges Against the Commissioners of Charittes and Correction.

The Mayor's office was crowded yesterday with visitors. Regular routine duties of the Executive necessitated the admission of numerous callers, but the vacancy of the places of Commissioner Gradiene brought an indux of contieves interesting the resulting of a blow fluster was about forty years of age, was off in Scotland, and formerly resided in Buffalo. He has relatives who will, no doubt, claim his remains.

Coroner Eickhoff yesterday concluded the investigation previously commenced in the case of Mary Ann Mooney, late of No. 514 East Fourteenth street, whose death, it was alleged, had been caused by violence received at the hands of Edward kooney, her husband. Dr. Dorlin, who saw ward Mooney, her husband. Dr. Dorlin, who saw deceased before her death, testified that she told him her husband kicked her the day previous. The jury rendered a verdict against Mooney and the Coroner committed nim to the Tombs. He, however, will be released on $1,000 bail, provided he can secure a competent hondsman.

The prisoner is forty-seven years of age, born in Ireland and by trade a boiler maker. He had nothing to say in relation to the charge against him.

THE BROOKLYN MURDER.

Thomas Coyne, liquor dealer, proprietor of the saloon No. 5 Hamilton avenue, South Brooklyn, who was shot, as alleged, by John Dougherty on Sunday night, died at the hospital yesterday Sunday night, died at the hospital yesterday morning from the effect of his wound. The shooting is said to have been accidental. Coroner Jones will hold the inquest on Friday next, bougherty was arraigned before Justice Delmar yesterday and was committed to await the action of the Coroner's jury.

THE JERSEY CITY MURDER. Police Justice Keese Sets Aside the Action of the Coroner.

Michael Gilligan, who was exonerated by the coroner's jury in Jersey city from all blame in causing the death of William Livingstone, was nevertheless retained in custody and brought before Instice Keese in the First District Police Court yesterday morning. The Justice informed him yesterday morning. The Justice informed him that even in the face of the verdict of the coroner's jury he would hold him in custody as an accessory before the fact. The Justice added that he took this action, as he considered the said verdict was not in accordance with the evidence. Edward Cosgrave was also brought up, and he too was committed. They were informed that they could have an examination, or if they should waive that have recourse to a writ of habeas corpus. Their counsel not being at hand, they were remanded. James Hunt was brought up and committed without ball. Coroner Lynch threatens to have this proceeding taken before the Grand Jury, as a contempt of his authority.

SUICIDE IN WESTCHESTER.

He Gives His Body for Cremation. On Sunday morning the inhabitants of the little village of Centreville, in the lower portion of Westchester county, Westchester township, were thrown into considerable commotion by the finding of the body of a stranger, apparently about fifty-five years of age, in a wood belonging to a resident named Frank Divine. When discovered the body was in a sitting posture, the back braced firmly against the trunk of a tree, while the left firmly against the trunk of a tree, while the left hand grasped a discharged revolver, the contents of which had entered the head immediately behind the right ear. In his pockets were found no money or valuables, only a slip of paper, on which had been written with ink the following words:

My name is Jules Parin. No money. I have no friends. Life rone out. Take my body for cremation JULES PARIN.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE AT EAST NEW YORK. Eight Houses and $55,000 Worth of Property Destroyed.

About two o'clock yesterday morning a fire broke out in a three story frame building on Allantic avenue, between Butler street and Miller avenue. East New York, a suburb of Brooklyn, which is remarkable for the number of confiagrathe work of incendiaries, or "fire bug," as the verdant guardians of the peace, property and public morals of that outskirt of the churchy city delight to designate the vandals who apply the destructive torch. Smoke was seen issuing from the second building in a block of eight domiciles at the hour named, by an officer of the police, who gave the slarm. The village fire department turned out slowly from their quarters, but owing gave the aiarm. The village fire department turned out slowly from their quarters, but owing to the insufficiency of water were unable to render much assistance in suppressing the flames, which rapidly communicated to the adjoining structures. The tenants escaped out of the burning houses into the cold December night, saving but little of their effects. Eight houses were entirely demotished. The officer who discovered the fire ascended the stairway of the building and found that kerosene oil had been spilled over the stairs and noors, and it was with the utmost difficulty the lives of the inmates were saved, so dense was the smoke. Pive of the buildings were owned by G. G. Guild, of New York; two by M. Ressegnie, a lumber dealer of the Eastern District, and one by J. A. Waniey. The loss on the houses, which were valued at $5,000 each, amounts to $40,000. The insurance on Waniey's house amounted to $5,000, in the Hartford and New York companies, Resseguie was insured in the Williamsburg City Company and Guild in various companies, whose names could not be assertianed. The lower past of the building was occupied as stores by J. Ackerback, G. Robins, A. Gumbert, J. Cook and F. Stuble, all of whom lost their stock, and estimate their combined losses at $16,000. Mrs. Maniey, a tenant of one of the burned domicles, was overcome by the smoke, and is in a very critical condition attendant upon the occurrence. A reward will be offered for the arrest of the incendiary.

BROOKLYN TAX OFFICE DEFICIENCIES.

The Board of Audit made their annual report of the result of their investigations to the Board of Aldermen yesterday afternoon. They find that in their examination of the affairs of the present Collector, Samuel Burrows, a deficiency of taxes, the amounts receipted for not being entered in the cash or returns of the same made to the city or county. The Deputy Collector, A. W. H. Gill, was arrested upon the discovery of this deficiency. During the administration of ex-Collector Driggs the Board of Audit found, from July 1, 1800, to July 1, 1800 to the city or county. The Deputy Collector, A. W. H. Gith. was arrested upon the discovery of this deficiency. During the administration of Mr. Isaac Badeau, from July 1, 1862, to July 1, 1872, deficiencies amounting to $128,291 41 were discovered, and of this amount $5,733 34 was traced to Captain A. W. H. Gith. During the administration of ex-Collector Priggs the Board of Andit found, from July 1, 1860, to July 1, 1866, deficiencies amounting in the aggregate to $23,749 82. The Board takes occasion to bear testimony to the valuable am rendered by Mr. Burrows in their investigations of the department. He surrendered all claim to duplicate and over payments on account of takes and assessments, as well as all other items which seem to have been considered perquisites by his predecessors, and the management of which he personally assumed. Of the deficiencies in Mr. Burrows' accounts but $33 can be ascribed to derical errors. The remaining $4,129 87 seem to be traceacle to, and caused the arrest of, an old and trusted subordinate.
